April 2026 - Paris
Verlingue News #29

As the global risk landscape is being reshaped at unprecedented speed, Multinational organisations are navigating growing complexity across borders - from geopolitical instability and sanctions to regulatory divergence, supply chain fragility and emerging cyber, climate and demographic exposures - making international collaboration and coordinated risk management more critical than ever.

In this context, Verlingue continues to accelerate its international development, strengthening its expertise and reinforcing its commitment to supporting clients wherever they operate. Another milestone in this journey is the appointment of Axel Zoma as Executive Director of our newly created Multinational Line of Business, a role that reflects our ambition to better support our global clients within WBN the world's largest network of independent brokers.

In this new edition, we highlight several initiatives led by our teams across Europe - from specialised support by our Construction's team in France, to the launch of VIE, our Employee Benefits marketplace in the UK. These examples demonstrate our continuous effort to combine local expertise with global reach.

We hope you enjoy the read.
